The Definitive Guide to the Care of Newborns in the Intensive Care Setting

The Core Curriculum for Neonatal Intensive Care Nursing is the definitive guide to the care of newborns in the intensive care setting. This comprehensive textbook provides up-to-date information on the latest advances in neonatal care, including the latest research and evidence-based practices.

The Core Curriculum is divided into four sections:

1. to Neonatal Intensive Care Nursing
2. Physiological and Developmental Considerations of the Newborn
3. Common Neonatal Conditions and Interventions

4. Professional Issues in Neonatal Intensive Care Nursing

The first section provides an overview of the neonatal intensive care unit (NICU) and the role of the neonatal intensive care nurse. The second section discusses the physiological and developmental considerations of the newborn, including the respiratory, cardiovascular, gastrointestinal, renal, and neurological systems. The third section covers common neonatal conditions and interventions, such as respiratory distress syndrome, bronchopulmonary dysplasia, intraventricular hemorrhage, necrotizing enterocolitis, sepsis, meningitis, congenital heart defects, and surgical interventions.

The fourth section discusses professional issues in neonatal intensive care nursing, such as ethical decision-making, cultural diversity, and end-of-life care. The Core Curriculum is an essential resource for neonatal intensive care nurses, as well as for other healthcare professionals who care for newborns in the intensive care setting.
