Sarah's journey was not an easy one. She faced discrimination and sexism from some of her fellow sailors, and she had to work twice as hard to prove herself. But she never gave up on her dream. She persevered through the challenges, and eventually earned her wings.

In 2009, Sarah deployed to Iraq with her squadron. She flew combat missions over Iraq and Afghanistan, and she saw firsthand the horrors of war. But she also saw the courage and resilience of the men and women who served with her.

After her deployment, Sarah returned home to a hero's welcome. She was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for her bravery in combat, and she became a role model for young women across the country.

Sarah's story is one of courage, determination, and resilience. It is a story that will inspire you to never give up on your dreams, no matter how difficult they may seem.
