A Culinary Puzzle Wrapped in a Blanket of Southern Hospitality

In the quaint town of Sugarwood, Mississippi, where the aroma of honey ham biscuits fills the air, a gruesome discovery sends shockwaves through the community. The beloved Reverend Amos Peabody is found lifeless in his study, a half-eaten biscuit clutched in his hand. Amidst the chaos and grief, Mahalia Watkins, a sharp-witted local baker and amateur sleuth, scents a foul play.

Determined to uncover the truth, Mahalia delves into a web of secrets and suspicions. The victim's family, the church congregation, and even her own friends become potential suspects. With her keen eye for detail and an unwavering sense of justice, Mahalia sifts through clues, separating culinary red herrings from the bitter truth.
